Does a larger, more ‘established’ university mean a better education?
According to the 2008 Good Universities Guide, not by a long shot. It’s all there, on page 38. Though this may surprise a few people, it’s not news to us. Swinburne puts the educational experience first and foremost. From students having full control over their curriculum, to real-world industry engagements, we continually challenge ourselves to redefine the way our students are inspired.

Open Day 2009
8am – 5pm, Sunday 16 August 2009, Hawthorn Campus
Your students will have the opportunity to experience Swinburne’s open-minded approach to education for themselves. Swinburne students and professors from each Faculty will showcase their amazing projects in an interactive festival, guaranteed to inspire young adults to push the boundaries of creative, hands-on learning.

Dial A Grad
Who better to answer questions about a faculty or course than those who have already done it?
An exciting, new Swinburne initiative, high school students will now have the opportunity to talk directly to a graduate from their Faculty of interest, to answer questions as only an ex-student can.
If you have an inquisitive student who could benefit from speaking to a graduate, call our DIAL-A-GRAD hotline, on 1300 677 455.

Question Everything DM Booklet
Sent out to careers advisors, this information booklet outlines the Swinburne difference, and along the way, challenges the conventional wisdom, which assumes that an institution’s stature and size are synonymous with superior teaching and research results.

The booklet will also inform them of Open Day 2009 and how their students can get in touch with Swinburne graduates through the DIAL-A-GRAD program.
